Dear Mr. Craddock:

The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) enforces the Horse Protection Act (HPA) (15 U.S.C. § 1821 et seq.) and its implementing regulations. The HPA prohibits horses that are "sore" from participating in auctions, exhibitions, sales, or shows. The HPA also prohibits the transportation of horses that are "sore" to or from these events. Violations of the HPA jeopardize APHIS efforts to eliminate soring in horses.

APHIS is issuing the enclosed APHIS Form 7060, "Official Warning, Violation of Federal Regulations" to notify you of the [alleged] HPA violations documented in case number TN10071-AC.

The HPA authorizes the imposition of civil penalties up to $2,200. This is to notify you that APHIS is hereby holding in abeyance the penalties that it may impose in connection with the above-described violations, provided that you comply with applicable APHIS laws and regulations in the future. If you again violate APHIS laws and regulations, APHIS may, if warranted, seek criminal penalties or the assessment of the civil penalties held in abeyance in addition to any penalties that may be warranted for any future violations.

If you have any questions concerning this letter, you may contact our office at (301) 734-8684.

Sincerely,

For Bernadette Juarez
